

Sustainability at Landscore

This Semester

This semester, Team One will be creating 'Bug Hotels' for the school grounds. They will also make 'Flower Pot Hotels' for their own gardens.

Team One will also be making a 2013 calendar with photos demonstrating how they contribute to making Landscore a more sustainable school. We will also be holding a whole school photography competition for children to take photos of how they save energy, recycle or reduce waste. The winners of this competition will have their photos put on the calendar. These calendars will be presented to our partner schools.

Project Ideas

Creating 'Bug Hotels' in school grounds.

Making a calendar for partner schools based on sustainability at school and at home.

Produce an advert to promote/advertise an area of sustainability. Adverts to be published on schools' website for all to share.

All schools to have a restricted electricity day/ evening. Schools to share feelings/results through letters/drawings.

All schools to complete a transport survey. Compare results.

Each school to grow their own meal. Share recipes with partner schools.

Children design a questionnaire, asking questions about sustainability for partner schools.

Children to find worst example of food packaging in their country. Compare and share results, and write to manufacturers with ideas for improvement.

Design a solar panel device. Schools to judge each others' results.

Children to write a letter to local MEP/newspaper expressing their concerns about a local environmental issue.

Children to create a 'painting' using recycled materials based on a famous artist from their country. Create an online gallery for all schools.

Children to make pledges on how they will contribute to a more sustainable future.

About the Project

This is My World is Landscore's third Comenius Project. Our first, My Country—Our Europe began back in 2007 and introduced the children to the cultures of a number of countries across Europe. Our second project, Arts in Action, concluded last summer with a fantastic sculpture exhibition opened by Peter Randall-Page.

This is My World will focus on sustainability in the widest sense—something about which Landscore has developed a bit of a reputation over the past few years. The project is broken into four "semesters" and each team in school will take on the work for one semester. The first semester is underway and Years 1 and 2 are taking the lead. Parents of children in these classes will have the chance to be involved.

To keep up with what is going on, you can visit our website at the usual address and clicking on Community and then Comenius. You will find links to our partner schools and examples of the work our children have done.
